Dr. Fitz's attil in Mechanical Dentistry can be seen at their office, specimens of which took the first Fremium and Diplomas at the United States Fair in 1857. Dr. Wilson has been treating aching teeth successfully for the last five years by destroying the nerve without pain, filling the fange and crown with gold, restoring the tooth to its natural shape, and making it as useful as before decay. Do not have your teeth extracted until you are certain they cannot be saved. More than fifty per cent. of the teeth usually extracted can be made useful through life. We are daily treating and filling teeth of this class that comes in to be extracted. In no case do we disfigure a tooth by filing to fill it, using other and better means than the indiscriminate use of the file. Any tooth can be filed with gold that is worth filling at all. We use, when requested, a local anesthesis to prevent pain in extracting teeth.

All operations warranted as represented, and tarms when requested, a local anesthesia to prevent pain in extracting teeth.

All operations warranted as represented, and terms as liberal as any good Dentist can afford.

PHONOGRAPHY. - The professional phonographic ecturer, Mr. T. Slee, has returned from Carrollton to Louisville, and is now fully prepared to instruct pupils thoroughly in the processs of penning words as swift as they can be spoken. Parties desirous of learning the art, either to take lessons privately or iu class, should apply at once, at the Garrard House, Market street, and thus secure an hour most suitable to themselves. The time and outlay required for attaining a knowledge of phonography is so triding that any person, though in a crowded line of business, may, without interrupting his other pursuits, speedlly become a proficient in it. Supposing, however, the trouble and application even more than it really is, no industrious person will regret the time spent in a study that must amply compensate for the trouble taken iu acquiring it. To all who are intended for the three learned prefessions of law, physic, and divinity, the knowledge of phonography ought to be a peculiar object of attention. To gentlemen at the bar, it will afford a means of retaining the arguments of an adversary amply and correctly and of such moment is the skill of this art to them especially when not endowed with an extraordinary memory, that the want of it may prove an insurmountable obstacle to eminence in their profession. To the student, it is of the utmost unportance, in enabling him to take down pleadings, the opinious of the judges, etc., and to those who attend lectures on physic, surgery, divinity, etc., the advantages accrning from it are sufficiently ohvions. To the clergy, also, it will prove highly useful, as hy accustoming themselves to write their sermous in this hand, they will experience a great saving of time. In short, to people of ilmost every denomination, it will be highly advantageous, particularly to those who go abroad, as it will enable them to make useful remarks in a secret and expeditious manner.

We should have sconded, yesterday, the proapproaching centental anniversary of Robbie Burns' birth-day. It it is not too late now to vote aye, and we do.t heartily and enthusiastically. Surely the mmory of deserves some recenition from a people who have wept over hi plaintive melodies-whose hearts have been chatened by his pure thoughts -whose pulses have heat faster when his words of fire and flame were chauted-whose manhood has been elevaed by his noble assertiou of true gentility, and whose cares and vexations have fled before his deliate humor and keen satire. Yes, it is most fiting that on the twentyfifth of January we shold unite with the whole world in commemorating the eventful day which gave birth to so great agenius as Burns. Scotsnen will do him honor hen; Masons will pledge the memory of one of the greatest of their brotherhood; but the songsof the great bard belong o no nation or fraterniy. They are universal in their adaptation, as hishcart was boundless in its charities. The propoition for a hanquet on the 25th meets with comuendation from every one with whom we have onversed. It is only necessary to have some pan of organization to perfect arrangements fo a grand banquet worthy of Louisville and of the deathless song writer. We had, n few days since, the pleasure of in specting two beautiful Indscape paintings, fresh from the casel of an acomplished and talented young lady of Fourth street They evince the possession of the highest order of genius on the part of the artist, and give promise of eminence in this most difficult of arts. The paintings are copies after Lessing and arc of the Dusseldorf school. One is a mountain scene, and the other quiet view of field and water, with grand old sills in the distance If there be any defect in these works, it is a ack of warmth in the colorng-a defect which may be easily remedied. It is gratifying to this day, when woman's whole antpition seems centred in playing the belle, and ecoming a parlor ornament, or a walking sign or dry good store and millinery shops, to see a lady turn from such frivolous pursuits and devote er talents to something enuobling and elevating. a this cannection it may be proper to mention hat our friend Gio. F. Fuller has disposed of his ine painting-the race between the Baltic and Diana-in New York, for a large sum. It will be ithographed in colors, and, we predict, will have a fine sale, and establish the reputation of the rifted artist. How

An Irishman was Forced to Sign a Marriage Bond was told us yesteday by our friend Gheen, of the Chancery Court. On Monday evening a mau aud woman, both Miesians, (or Greeks, as Reverend Henry Giles woud have it,) entered the office of the clerk of the County Court. The man was slow of movement, the woman quick; the man eluctant, the wonan eager; the man crest-fallen, he woman flush with certain victory. The wonan stated that she wished a license to marry the uian. The ever-assiduous Conn made out the necessary documents, but just at the critical uncture when the bond was to be signed, the nin was observed sucaking out of the door .-'Come back, Mr. Murphy, come back, Mr. Murphy," cries the woman. But Murphy heeds not. 'Mister Clerk wants ye, Murphy," adds the determined female. "The divil take the clerk and ye too," responds the indignant Murphy. Therepon the woman was after him, seizes his coat tail, and drags him up to the desk, where Murphy had to affix his name to the hond. The woman pand the license fee, and departed in triumph, leading the captive Murphy. They entered a hack in front of the Court House, and were driven paid the license fee, and departed in triumph, to the "praist's," where the iudefutigable female was made Mrs. Murphy. What more natural than that we should turn from this to Jefferson Bryant has fled from her, and taken up with some other woman. Geo. Druck accuses Bertha Drack of having played false to him, and wants a divorce; while Theresa Ringsdorff swears that Edward Ringsdorfl is a brute, and desires to have the privlege of marrying some one else. So the world goes. Some people are "married, but not mated," and it is best for humanity and decency that the Chancellor should wuet his legal knife and sever all such bouds.

WINCHESTER, Aug. 7, 1858. My Dear Sir: Your letter of the 28th of July, outunuicating to me the fact that there is a rumor in circulation in Galena, supposed to have come from Gen. Jones, of Iown, that pending the Illinois Central Railroad grant in the Senate of the United States, an arrangement was made between him and me, by which the interests of Galena were sacrificed to those of Dubuque, is received. I have a distinct recollection of the facts the case, and they are in substance as follows. The bill, as drawn and introduced into Congress by myself, provided for a railroad from the south ern terminus of the Illinois and Michigan canal to the mouth of the Ohio river, with a branch to Chicago, and another to Galena, the northwestern Chicago, and another to Galena, the northwestern terminus of the road. Gen. Jones, his colleague, and perhaps some others, objected to Galena as a terminus, on the ground that the road would not connect with the Mississippi river, and thus a hiatns would be created in the railroad between the east and west side of the river. I endeavoral to dusuade them from their objections, and to induce them to allow the hill to pass in the shape I had introduced it, but they were immovable, and insisted on defeating the bill unless we would extend the road to Dubuque. Upon full consultation with uny colleagues in both Houses of Congress, it was determined to permit the alteration to be made, under the belief that the whole bill would be defeated unless we consented altogether, although we did not think that our lows friends were treating as kindly by attemptination of the united delegation of the State or any of his triends, that I had any commonwith him, and was willing to sacrifice the interests of Galena to those of Dubuque, or any other point, is basely and infamously false.

Very respectfully, your friend,

Courier, cut from that paper of the 2d inst., with he cditorial accompanying the same, headed-A Bass Calumny." I will not condescend to no many cilful misrepressulations of your letter, preferring to deal with you, as more responsible than your instrument. I say "wilful misrepresentations," because you say you "have a distinct recollection of the facts in the case," and because the journals and debates of the Senate prove your statements to he wholly destitute of truli, so far as you refer to my colleague, (Gen. A. U. Dodge) myself and our friends as having ever expressed or entertained the idea, as you say, of "deeating the bill noless the road was extended to Duhnque, though we sarely had as much right so to amend it as our Southern friends of Ken-tucky, Tennessee, and Alahama had to suggest and require, as I think they did, that you should make the road extend to Mohile, through those

You know well that neither you nor your col-league, Gen. Shields, ever had such consultation, either between yourselves or your colleagues of the House, before I offered my amoundment to make the road terminate at this place, instead of at Galena. You moreover knew equally well, that when I approached you towards the close of the debate in the Senate on the hill with my amendment, and asked you whether you had any obje tions to my offering it, stating as I did that it was merely to extend your road to Dubuque, 12 or 15 miles further West, that you not only freely ascolleagues to the same effect. Richard-son, Maj. Harris, and others of the House, who would take charge of the bilt, and would prevent Baker from making any such amendment in that

The assertion on your part that I or my colleague or any one of our friends had determined to defeat your hill upon the ground stated by you, or for any other reason whatever, is false, and its publication heing deferred until the day of the publication heing deferred until the day of the late Illinois election, too late to be contradicted by myself or others, shows that you and he (your Galena organ) who acted for you, designed to mislead the Galena people, and thus accomplish your selfish purpose. The journals and the debates of the Senate show that Gen. Dodgo and I heartily co-operated with you and your colleague in every effort and every vote which was given on that question. For many considerations we could not but be deeply interested in the passage of that bill.

At the celebration of the completion of the Illi-nois Central Railroad to Dunleith, held at this place in July, 1855, you complimented me in exalted terms in your speech on that occasion, as the person who procured the amendment, making Dubuque the terminus of the road; and although

The Republican Method of Abolishing Slavery at the South.

Seward, Chase, Giddings, and other leaders of the Republican party have lately, in speeches and letters, discovered the manner in which slave ry is to be abolished at the South through the instrumentality of an organization in the North. A Democratic cotemporary, the Albany Argus and Atlas, thus condenses and explains it: The meaning of this is, let the middle States

The meaning of this is, let the middle States invite alayes to escape, and refuse to surrender them Let the North take possession of both Houses of Congress, and of the Executive department. Reconstruct the Judiciary. Make slaveholding a disqualification for office, and Abolitionism the requisite for all positions. Fill the Southern postoffices with Abolition agents, and make the mails the agency for the dissentination of insurrectionary publications. Use the money power and the public domain as bribes for emancipation; and tax the States that refuse to comply with the demands of Northern fanaticism. Recruit free black "citizens" into the army, and when Southern States appeal for the army, and when Southern States appeal for succor send them there. Intercept the slave emigration between States; and prostrate the barriers which the State constitutions interpose to the in cursions of free negroes. And finally, so discriminate in treaties with foreign powers, in tariffs, Ac., against the productions of the South, as to render slave labor worthless.

This is the plan of Seward, Giddings & Co.; and the authors of it turn up the whites of their pions eyes and wonder at the excess of their own forbearance, and at their devotion to this "cursed constitution".

And such are the men Southerners are juvited and nrged to co-operate with under the name of the "Opposition." Whole platoons, companies. and regiments of Know Nothings, who are yet true to their own interests and their section, will refuse to thus follow Crittenden, Humphrey Marshall, Underwood, and the Louisville Journal, into the Black Republican ranks.

Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this nighty country. Moeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation, timeerally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing now health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spiriled, it will prove a greatful aromaile cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

From Albany, N. Y.

ALBANY, Jun. 4.—Governor Morgan's first message was transmitted to both houses to-day. The following is an abstract of the principal features: The funded debt of the State is $30,913,258 77, of which $2,480,770 44 is the canal debt. The entire receipts from cannils for the year, is $2,072,204 88, from which, after deducting payment for superintendence and other charges, there is an abundance of surplus revenue, amounting to $403,425 97.—As, however, the interest and constitutional requirements of the sinking fund far exceeds this arround of surplus there is an actual deficience of quirements of the sinking fund far exceeds this amount of surplus, there is an actual deficiency of $703,574 00, if the interest upon the general canal fund is added to that accrucing the canal fund. Dratts have also been issued by the Canal Commissioners, amounting, on the 20th of Sept., 1858, to $1,20,033 20, beyond the notitity of the State Treasury, and by this time, these drafts have probably nugmented to $1,700,000, or $2,000,000.

To meet the claims upon the Treasury, actual and estimated, which relates to the entitle alone, $2,555,000 will be required, equivalent to a State tax of nearly two mills on the dollar, of the valuations of 1887. The above sum does not include damages for clargement, for which $1,000,000 additional will be required, besides $500,000 to pay ditional will be required, besides $700,000 to pay the 15 per cent, reserved out of the estimates for work done under contract. These figures are correct. Obligations, amounting to over $1,000,000, have incurred, without including the necessary outlay for completing what has been commerced, regardless of the constitutional provision specifying that no debt shall be contracted, unless authorized by law, which shall impose an annual tax to pay the interest on such debt, and providing for the navnent of the principal, within 18 ag for the payment of the principal, within 1s ears from the dute of its being contracted. He regrets the necessity of this exhibition of hunces, requiring an early and deliberate action by the Legislature to provide for its extinguish-nent. The importance of the early completion of canal enlargement is arged, which can be finished by the spring of 150, if the small amount required, when compared with that already exnided, is provided for.

Gov. Morgan expresses the opinion that until the canuls are completed and the present floating debt is paid, appropriations should be confined to the most economical necessities of the Government. He also says that a resort to district taxadebtis paid, appropriations should be confined to the most economical necessities of the Government. He also says that a result to district taxation has become necessary to meet the payment of interest on the public funds and the expenses of Government.

The message concludes with a reference to the conservative attitude which New York has ever maintained with regard to her sixter States and the expenses of the conservative attitude which New York has ever maintained with regard to her sixter States are the payment of the says of East East and procuring homes for Servants. In short, anything that pertains to a Commission or Agency business will meet with prompt attended to the conservative attitude which New York has ever maintained with regard to her sixter States are the payment.

assumption that he natural, no moral considera-tions are involved in the issue of free or slave labor. This is not gennine popular sovereignty, but sovereignty of chance, of accident, of fleet-ness in reaching, and deterity in appropriating the Territory in question. It is the sovereignty of the few over the destiny of millions. New York has not assented and never can assent to a theory which divests her of all control over the common sheritage of her sons with those of her sister States, and virtually declares that she cares not whether her children who emigrate westward shall live where mannal labor is respectable, or where it is regarded as fit employment only of the custaved and degraded. Every American must, in his heart, desire either that slavery should or should not be extended into the falsers lavrivore. his heart, desire either that slavery should or should not be extended into the federal territories, and each has a right to proclaim and act upon his choice. If the deliberate soutiment of the people, constitutionally expressed, shall favor slavery extension, New York will submit, as she always has, to decisions fairly made, which contravene her convictions or her interests. However disappointed by any lawful action of the authoraties of the United States, she never has faltered nor sought redress in acts of unlitication, and she wages no war upon the institutions or interests
